Students, Engage!

Time Needed: One Class Period

Materials Needed:
- Student worksheets

Copy Instructions:
- Engagement Review (class set, single-sided)
- Action Plan p.1-2 (class set, double-sided)
- Reflection Activity p.1-2 (class set, double-sided)

---

Learning Objectives.

Students will be able to:

- Describe the ways that citizens can engage with their environment to affect political change through a brainstorming activity and the development of an action plan.
- Model ways that citizens can engage with their environment to affect change by developing an action plan to solve a local problem and presenting their action plan to the class.

STEP BY STEP

- ANTICIPATE
  - the lesson by asking “What problems in our school would you like to see changed?”
  - Examples may include poor school lunches, safety issues, boring curriculum, lack of clubs, and early start and end times. Make a list on the board.

- CREATE
  - a list of action steps with your students that they can take to solve some of the problems on the board. Examples: letter writing, awareness campaigns, fundraising.

- DISTRIBUTE
  - the Engagement Review sheet and allow students to complete. Review orally.

  If using as a mini lesson to introduce the game Activism, stop here. You may assign the Reflection Sheet without completing the follow steps.

- DISTRIBUTE
  - the Action Plan forms to your students. (Note that there are TWO versions of this that you can choose to use, depending on the writing abilities of your students).

- REVIEW
  - the Action Plan instructions carefully with students and allow students 20 minutes to complete.

- CALL ON
  - students to share out their “speeches.”

- DISTRIBUTE
  - the Reflection Sheet, reviewing the instructions as a class.

- CLOSE
  - the class by taking a vote on answers for questions 1-4 on the Reflection Sheet.
Students, Engage!

Solutions! Look at the lists that you have made on the board of problems and action steps. Write down two problems that are important to you. Write down two action steps that you could use to solve each problem and explain how the action step would address the problem.

Matching. For each scenario (number) write the best solution (letter) to solve the problem!

- [ ] 1. You’ve noticed that there are a lot of people in your town that don’t have enough to eat, while others are throwing out a lot of food.
- [ ] 2. The park near your house is filled with litter.
- [ ] 3. Students in wheelchairs are not able to get into the school bleachers. This isn’t fair!
- [ ] 4. Your basketball league doesn’t have enough money and so it may have to shut down. You love playing basketball!
- [ ] 5. Drunk driving is a serious problem. People need to know that drinking and driving don’t mix!
- [ ] 6. Your street is dangerous because the speed limit is too fast. The speed limit needs to be lowered as fast as possible!

A. go before your local governing body to encourage them to create new safety laws
B. hold a fundraiser like a bake sale or yard sale to raise money for an organization
C. organize volunteers to lend a hand
D. start collecting supplies to give to the needy
E. write a blog post on the issue
F. write a letter to your principal asking him to fix a problem
Students, Engage!

Develop a Plan. Complete each section below to organize your thoughts on problem solving in your community...

Pick an issue from the list on the board...

List two reasons that you picked this problem:

List one way that life at your school would be improved if the problem is solved...

List two causes of the problem:
If “bad lunches” is your issue, you might say that there is not enough money spent on lunches at your school.

Describe the first step that you would take to solve the problem you chose...
If “bad lunches” is your issue, you might say that asking students what they want to eat is a good place to start.

Presentation Prep. The next step is to prepare your Action Plan for a presentation. Organizers use speeches and writing to gain support for their issues and movements. Create a presentation about your issue by filling in the blanks. You can use information from the previous page if you choose. Then, draw an illustration that supports your presentation.

Today, I am here to talk about the problem of __________________________________________ _________________________________________________. This issue is important to me because
_________________________________________________________________________________

It should be important to everyone here because __________________________________________
_________________________________________________. If we organize to change this issue, life will be better because __________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________________

The causes of __________________________________ include __________________________________ _________________________________________________________________________________ and
_________________________________________________________________________________

In order to solve this problem, the first step I will take is to __________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________________

Thank you for __________________________________________.

I hope you will join me in trying to address the problem of __________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________________.
The next step is to prepare your Action Plan for a presentation. Organizers use speeches and writing to gain support for their issues and movements. Create a presentation about your issue by writing a speech. You can use information from the previous page to help you.

Make sure that your speech includes the following items:

⇒ A statement about which issue you picked
⇒ A statement about why you think that issue is a problem and the roots of the problem
⇒ An action statement (at least two sentences) about your proposed solution to the problem
⇒ A clear closing statement in which you restate the problem and solution
